

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Siding trim including at least three trim elements each having at least two recesses associated therewith. The at least 5 two recesses share a traversing frame element. The traversing frame element has at least two projecting elements projecting outwardly therefrom. The at least two recesses selectively receive and retain one or more panel elements. The at least two recesses bias against the one or more panel elements to firmly 10 retain the one or more panel elements therein.